Grant Drumheller: New Paintings
December 1-29, 2016.
Reception December 1, 5-8

Grant Drumheller will present his second show at the Prince Street Gallery opening on December 1, 2016. Largely observed from above, the paintings explore images of people moving through city squares, swimming and playing at the beach and enjoying the public realm. Drumheller deploys deft drawing and characterization to achieve a natural tableau of human activity.

The show is accompanied by an illustrated catalog with an essay by the noted poet Charles Simic, "...from his cartoonist's knack of capturing with a few strokes the identity of someone in the crowd, to the many subtle and startling ways he employs color and the sheer joy and abandon with which he wields his brush that bring his paintings to life. It's like watching a juggling act in which the juggler keeps us in suspense by keeping in the air more balls than it seems possible, but however it's done, by magic or just plain hard work, what matters the most is that we can't stop looking."

Drumheller has been the recipient of a Fulbright-Hays Grant in Painting to Italy. He has also been the recipient of a Blanche Colman Award, a National Endowment for the Arts Artist's Fellowship, a New England Foundation for the Arts Grant and a grant from the Pollock- Krasner Foundation. Most recently he was a Visiting Artist at the American Academy in Rome in 2009. He is Professor of Art at the University of New Hampshire.

Drumheller has had numerous exhibitions, including one person shows at the Galleria Inquadatura (Florence, Italy), the Currier Museum of Art (Manchester, NH) the Creiger-Dane Gallery (Boston, MA), the Grace Institute (New York, NY), The Prince Street Gallery (New York, NY), Boston University and Amherst College. In September, 2015 he was the subject of a 40-painting review at Gordon College (Wenham, MA). IN 2016-2017, Drumheller will exhibit at the Prince Street Gallery, New York, NY that will travel to the Nesto Gallery, Milton Academy (Milton, MA).
