Prince Street Gallery presents "SANCTUARY," a group exhibit with gallery artists and associates. An opening reception will be held on Thursday, December 4th, from 5-8 pm. The word "sanctuary" means a place of refuge or safety. While its original meaning referred to a "holy place" derived from the Latin, sanctuarium, it is used more generically now to suggest any place free from danger or conflict. It may be a place of safety for animals or humans.

An interesting and compelling aspect of this exhibit is that in addition to the exhibited images there are brief but informative statements about how each work demonstrates the theme. It varies from artist to artist, but one theme that emerges strongly is that the making of art, the act of creating is for many a refuge itself, hence, the studio. For others, that studio is nature. Some works represent the theme in its most original usage, whether it be the spirit of guardian angels, an imagined monastery, the remains of protective towers and walls.

Opening Reception: Thursday, December 4th, 5 - 8pm

Gallery Hours: Tuesday through Saturday, 11 - 6pm
